DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 10 and 19 are objected to because of the following informalities: the dependency of claims 10 and 19 needs to be properly corrected for dependency using strike through and underlining. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bitdinger et al. (US 5,478,316).

With regard to claim 1, Bitdinger et al. teach an injection device comprising: a housing (Fig. 3 member 12) adapted to receive a syringe (Fig. 3 member 30) having a discharge nozzle and having a boot that covers its discharge nozzle (Figs. 3 and 4 boot 36), so that the syringe is movable between a retracted position in which the discharge nozzle is contained within the housing and an extended position in which the discharged nozzle extends from the housing through an exit aperture (see transition in Figs. 5 and 6); a releasable locking mechanism that retains the syringe in its retracted position (Fig. 3 interaction between 28A and 66B, Col. 5 lines 40-60); and a housing closure member that can occupy a first position, in which it locates on the housing and prevents the locking mechanism from being released, and a second position, in which it does not prevent the locking mechanism from being released, the first position of the housing closure member being one in which it engages the boot, so that movement of the housing closure member to its second position results in removal of the boot from the syringe (Fig. 4 closure member 16).

With regard to claims 2-4, see Figs. 3-4 member 16.

With regard to claim 5, actuator 66C (Fig. 3), drive 46 (Fig. 3).

With regard to claim 6, biasing member 56 (Fig. 3), return member 40 (Fig. 3).

With regard to claims 7-10, release mechanism 28 (Fig. 3, see transition Fig. 3 to Fig. 6).

With regard to claim 11, see Col. 5 lines 55-60 28A and 66B move from engaged to disengaged.

With regard to claims 12 and 13, see ramped surface of 66B (Fig. 9 which engages in opening in 28 between 28A and generally 28C (Fig. 9).

With regard to claim 14, the trigger is taken as 58 see transition from 5 to 6 and disengages 46 with interlock member 60.

With regard to claim 15, the trigger is taken as 58 see transition from 5 to 6 and disengages 46, interlock member 28.

With regard to claim 16, see lock 60 (Figs. 5 and 6).

For the purposes of claims 17-21, the trigger is instead taken as 66 with projection 66B and aperture on the interlock member formed by 28A (Fig. 3), this alternate interpretation can also be applied to the parent claims. As such the releasable locking member of claim 1 in the alternate interpretation is taken to be the interaction between 60 and 52 (Figs. 5 and 6).

Response to Amendment

4. The amendments to the claims, drawings, and specification have been entered and are sufficient to overcome the previous objections.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed October 14, 2011 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. As applicant states in the remarks on Pg. 9 second paragraph, members 28A and 66B prevent the trigger from actuated, as such these constitute a locking mechanism. Further, the claims itself recites that the locking mechanism is releasable which the locking mechanism of Bitdinger is.

Conclusion

2. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
